

SUMMER LISTENING LOG

All summer long, music is happening around you — on road trips, on the podcast, at concerts, in movies, and sometimes just drifting in through an open window. This log is a place to notice it. Jot down what you heard, where it came from, what instruments caught your ear, and one word for how it made you feel.

By the end of summer, you'll have your own record of the music that was part of your family's story this year.
